

UNIVERSAL BEING 2022

The Voyage Into The Light

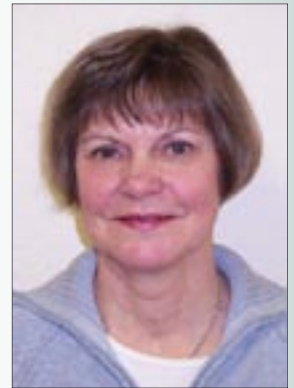

Every moment of every day we have choices to make, for that is the free will nature of humanity. Basically, we choose to voyage further into The Light or we choose something less, which adds to the growing chaos and deepening shadows of our physical world. Those who choose wisely take advantage of every tool available to make "The Voyage" a success, such as the three presentations of Universal Being 2022, covering meditation, inspiration and humor. We hope you choose to join us for a spiritually valuable experience.

The speakers, the topics:

Chris Luard is internationally known for his expertise in the topic he will present: Meditation. He will explain his meditative practices and lead a guided meditation – via computer hookup from his home in Thailand! “In meditation, we reach a point of stillness,” Chris explains. “When we rest in that stillness, we actually recognize this stillness as the very birthplace of creativity. It is the same stillness where the universe goes to create a star, a thought, a song, or a human being.”

Sherilyn Highben will combine current medical knowledge with insights from The Council in The Laughter Factor. The Council is the spiritual source which spoke during the deep-state trance communications of William Allen LePar, and they spoke highly about the healthy qualities of humor. Sherilyn is a member of the SOL Association for Research and is a veteran speaker for the Universal Being conferences. A former high school English teacher, she now is an adjunct professor in English at the Kent State University Tuscarawas County branch.

Jane Biehl, PhD, will be presenting “Life Is Short: Embrace Body, Mind and Spirit.” Jane says she has been blessed to have had careers as a librarian, counselor, college professor and writer. Along the way she has earned four advanced degrees and written several books, all despite a severe hearing loss and other health challenges. She will present how her faith, spirituality, and embracing body, mind and soul all together have inspired her on her journey through life.

SOL Vice President David Ries will present the closing remarks.
