Man rarely looks at the shortness of his stay in this learning place that you call "Earth" or that you call "Life." Man looks into a mirror and feels that he will always be, that he will never leave. This is his inner self, his higher self, letting him know that he is everlasting and eternal, but his physical body is not, and it is in the use of his tool, that physical body, that he grows the fastest and most profoundly. Use your time as if you did not have a tomorrow. Use your time as if there were no more tomorrows for you. Use your time as if this is all you had left.

—The Council

This Divine Creator can see His own Godliness and He can see the godliness that lies in each of us. If we in turn are to emulate Him, we must first be able to see our own potential or godliness before we are able to see it in anyone or anything else in creation. I tell you now that this Divine God has not and will not create anything that does not have the full potential of goodness and perfection. Only we are capable of allowing the power of the Divine to flow through us, cleansing away the cobwebs of inactivity and shining outwardly to the world. At this time in man's history the Divine Creator manifests Himself and reveals Himself more completely to His creation through each of us as unique individuals. Therefore, it is not only our right but privilege to be His personal ambassador to all. We must choose to stand before Him and allow His radiance to pass through us to those beyond, thus allowing this light to eliminate all shadows that we may cast upon His creation. We must be willing to stand completely transparent in the full view of our Creator.
